Order 11988, Executive Order 11990, and USDA Departmental Regulation 9500-3, Land Use Policy, an Environmental Assessment (EA) was prepared to assess the potential impacts of the Proposed Action on the human and natural environment. The purpose of this notice is to inform the public of this Proposed Action and request comments concerning the scope of work and environmental effects outlined in the draft EA.

The project area consists of the Arbor Oaks subdivision located in Houston, Harris County, Texas with White Oak Bayou (E100-00-00) to the southwest, West Little York Drive to the south, Vogel Road to the east, Victory Drive to the north, and Vogel Creek (E121-00-00) bisecting the project site from north to south. The Arbor Oaks subdivision was mostly constructed by the late 1970's within the floodplain of White Oak Bayou (E100-00-00) and Vogel Creek (E121-00-00). The Project Area is prone to flooding impacts from large tropical storms and hurricanes during late summer and early fall. Major storms that have impacted the Project Area in the past few decades include Tropical Storm Allison (June 2001), Memorial Day Storm (May 2015), Tax Day Storm (April 2016), Memorial Day Storm (May 2016), and Hurricane Harvey (August 2017). To restore the floodplain and reduce flood risk within the White Oak Bayou (E100-00-00) and Vogel Creek (E121-00-00) watersheds, the former Arbor Oaks subdivision will be converted into a four-compartment, dry-bottom (two compartments) and wet-bottom (two compartments) detention basin that will outfall into White Oak Bayou (E100-00-00) and Vogel Creek (E121-00-00). The proposed Arbor Oaks Stormwater Detention Basin (SWSDB) Project, HCFCD Project ID E500-25-00-E001 (Project), consists of approximately 68 acres which includes the construction of both dry-bottom and wet-bottom detention basins with approximately 223 acre-feet (ac-ft) of stormwater storage capacity intended to mitigate flooding in the watershed. The purpose of this project is to provide flood risk reduction within the White Oak Bayou (E100-00-00) and Vogel Creek (E121-00-00) watersheds.

Information about this project was disseminated to the public during a virtual Community Engagement Meetings. The virtual meeting was held online at www.hcfcd.org/webex on April 15, 2021. Presentation materials can be found at the website listed below.

The draft EA is available for review at the Flood Control District's main office located at 9900 Northwest Freeway, Houston, Texas 77092, online at <https://www.hcfcd.org/Activity/Active-Projects/White-Oak-Bayou/C-15-Arbor-Oaks-Stormwater-Detention-Basin>, and by request through the email listed below. For comments or questions on the proposed action and associated impacts, please contact the Flood Control District's Projects and Studies hotline, at 346-286-4040. The Draft EA will be posted for 30 consecutive days. Written comments may be submitted via email to communications@hcfcd.hctx.net or through the website listed above. Comments must be received within 45 days of this notice for consideration.
